

Data Analyst / Research Analyst to join Navigare Capital Partners

Are you interested in the world of maritime and international trade? Do you want to work with the latest shipping trends and to understand the fundamentals of various shipping markets? Does being part of a highly professional and dedicated team while having fun sound like you? Then you might be Navigare Capital's new data / research analyst.

Who we are:

Navigare Capital Partners was founded in 2017 and we are an AIFM-approved fund management company. We serve professional investors by investing in a portfolio of maritime assets through a disciplined investment strategy executed by an experienced team with deep industry knowledge. Navigare Capital Partners is committed to the highest degree of business conduct and support the green transition of the shipping industry.

What we are looking for:

We are looking for an additional analyst to join the existing Market Research team with a special focus on data analysis.

We imagine that you:

- have a few years of working experience in similar positions;
- are very skilled in collecting/treating/analysing and interpreting large dataset;
- have a curious mind, can pay attention to details while ensuring operational efficiencies;
- are eager to learn about the wide range of shipping segments we cover;
- are advanced Excel and PowerPoint user, knowledge of other applications is a plus.

Key responsibilities for this position include but are not limited to:

- data collection and treatment to ensure ongoing and future shipping market analysis;
- mapping out demand drivers and key indicators for the segments in our portfolio;
- participate actively in identifying and developing research topics;
- support tailor-made studies to facilitate deal sourcing and decision making;
- develop data visualization and streamline processes wherever possible.

What we offer:

You will be joining our team of experienced professionals in the office located close to the seaside in Hellerup. We offer a wide range of employee benefits and a competitive package.

Deadline:

We process applications and arrange interviews on a rolling basis, so we encourage you to apply as soon as possible and no later than 30 November 2023.
